Solano College on the Cutting-Edge

The Bachelor of Science in Biomanufacturing program at Solano Community College has been formally approved by the state's accrediting agency.

The Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges (ACCJC) notified the college Nov. 21 that the Baccalaureate program was approved and that the college can now proceed with its plans to offer the four-year program. The program is one of a handful approved in 2015 by the state to provide education in high-tech fields.

The SCC program is an extension of its current Industrial Biotechnology program, from which students can receive a Certificate of Achievement. Students with four-year degrees in Biomanufacturing are prepared to work in cutting-edge fields within the biotechnology industry. The upper division courses will begin to be offered in Fall 2017, with registration beginning in Spring 2017. Applications will begin to be accepted now.

"We are delighted about this program," said Superintendent-President Dr. Celia Esposito-Noy. "This will give our students the opportunity to learn state-of-the-art skills and prepare for exciting careers in biomanufacturing."

Solano Community College's mission is to educate a culturally and academically diverse student population drawn from our local communities and beyond. We are committed to student learning and achievement and to helping our students achieve their educational, professional, and personal goals. Solano transforms students' lives with undergraduate education, transfer courses, career-and-technical education, certificate programs, workforce development and training, basic-skills education, and lifelong-learning opportunities.

SCC French professor Lorna Marlow-Munoz took her students to the Legion of Honor museum in San Francisco early in November for a docent tour of “The Brothers Le Nain: Painters of 17th Century France.” The exhibit is the first in the United States devoted to the Le Nain Brothers, Antoine, Louis and Mathieu. More than 40 of the brothers’ works will be on display until the end of January.

SCC Speaks Out

The Solano Community College Communication Studies Department will present Speech Night in two performances on Tuesday, Nov. 29 at 4:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. The event is a fundraiser for the 2016-2017 Speech and Debate Team season and will be held in Studio G in Building 1400 (temporary Theatre). Doors for the early show open at 4 p.m. and at 6:30 for the later show.

Giving Tuesday

The SCC Educational Foundation will be participating in “Giving Tuesday” on Tuesday, Nov. 29. Giving Tuesday is a global day of giving powered by social media and collaboration. All proceeds from the SCC Giving Tuesday Campaign will go to support SCC Bridge Programs, including Puente, Umoja, and the Academic Success Center.
