SCC Student is Hired at Film Mare Island

Congratulations to SCC student Mia Pimentel, who was recently promoted at Film Mare Island. She says:

"Being in this class [OCED 090] has allowed me to improve my performance at work. I am able to manage my time efficiently as well as build working relationships to be successful for my future career in the film industry. As the semester comes to a close, I will soon be promoted from an unpaid intern to a paid employee at Film Mare Island. This course has enhanced my work ethic. This class not only helps guide me through my current jobs, but also teaches me skills that I can use in other jobs and in school. I am thankful towards Professor Berrett and Julene for helping guide me and allowing me to flourish in the workplace and at school."

Debra Berrett, Occupational Education Coordinator, said "After her 2nd semester as an intern she is formally being hired by Film Mare Island. We are so proud of her!"

Understanding Gender Project

Students in Psyc 012 Psychology of Gender class this semester embarked on a class project that uses a GENDERBREAD person to show that gender is a function of expression, identity, biological sex, and romantic and sexual attraction. These terms reference the Gender Binary, which is the idea that there are only two genders (male & female) and that there is only femininity or masculinity. They include terminology and definitions; flags seen on the board, also known as “pride flags” are representative of the attractions and identities of those in the LGBTQ+ community. They understand that the list is not an exhaustive list of labels for those in the LGBTQ+ community; terminology is infinite and deeply personal to the individual. Many of these labels may have different definitions for different individuals. Many feel empowered by finding a label they identify with, while others do not feel the need to label their identity- both decisions are equally valid and should be always be celebrated. So we hope you all get a chance to see it and understand gender a bit more! Location: Building 100 at the Fairfield campus.
