

Judge Leo Dorado, Mentor

“I’m so willing to give the time and commitment these students want and need. When I see what they are doing—juggling classes, jobs, and families—it motivates me to take on new risks and accomplish more in my own life that I would not otherwise do. I continue to be revitalized by my involvement in this program.”

—The Hon. Leo Dorado,
Judge, Alameda County
Superior Court

The Hon. Leo Dorado, Judge, Superior Court, Alameda County, was graduated from Boalt Hall School of Law, UC Berkeley, in 1974. Dorado has worked as an attorney in private practice, served as deputy district attorney in San Mateo and Alameda counties and presided as a municipal court judge. In 2001 he won the first-ever Judicial Distinguished Service Award from the Alameda County Bar Association. He has been a Puente mentor since 1990.