We will hear student voices, and we are hoping to hear from teachers and staff who work in the Vallejo Center as well. We will discuss what's working well on the Vallejo campus, the areas of need, and what concrete steps we can take to support our students. We will end the meeting by discussing a plan for a Vallejo-specific FLEX activity for January 9th, where we honor our campus' Vallejo history and roots (including the contributions of the Black Student Union and the larger African American community) and consider how the lessons from our past can help us serve as more effective allies of our students now.
